MEDIATION COURSE

The aim of the course is to enhance specific knowledge in conflict analysis and mediation skills of the participants which can be successfully applied in emerging and ongoing crisis situations. The training consists of contributions by senior experts and practitioners in this field, facilitated discussions, case studies and simulation, and role-play exercises. The program is designed for senior and mid level civilian, military and police staff of international organizations (UN, EU, OSCE, AU etc.), governments, non-governmental organizations and academic institutions.

Conflux Center and the Embassy of Egypt will co-organize a seminar "Peacekeeping in Francophone Space for the 21st Century" on the 3rd of March 2020 in conjunction with the mediation course to mark the 75th anniversary of the UN and the 50th anniversary of the OIF.

"HOW TO MANAGE THE POLITICAL DIMENSION IN PEACEMAKING, PEACEKEEPING AND PEACE BUILDING"

A course for political advisers and political affairs officers

The overall objective of the Course is to train political advisers and political affairs officers serving in peacekeeping operations, political and peacebuilding missions by enhancing their specific knowledge and skills, and enabling them to develop a deeper understanding of ways to manage the political dimension in a conflict or post-conflict environment. The course program is designed for mid and senior level political advisors and political affairs officers working in international organizations headquarters and field operations (UN, EU, OSCE, AU, etc.), and those working in governments, non-governmental organizations, academic institutions, or preparing to serve in peace operations and in diplomatic service.

GENDER MAINSTREAMING IN PEACE OPERATIONS AND GENDER MAINSTREAMING IN MEDIATION

The objective of the course is to expand specific knowledge on gender issues with the view to applying gender perspective in all policies, actions, plans and procedures in integrated peace operations and to improve understanding of the role women could play in conflict prevention and conflict resolution, as well as to enhance specific skills of the participants in gender sensitive conflict analysis and mediation process design. The course program is designed for civilians, military and police officers working in international organizations (UN, EU, AU, OSCE etc.), those working in the public sector, non-governmental organizations and academic institutions or those preparing themselves to serve in the area of peace operations or in diplomatic services.
GENDER MAINSTREAMING IN PEACE OPERATIONS AND GENDER MAINSTREAMING IN MEDIATION IN AFRICA

The objective of the course is to expand specific knowledge on gender issues with the view to applying gender perspective in all policies, actions, plans and procedures in integrated peace operations in Africa and to improve understanding of the role women in Africa could play in conflict prevention and conflict resolution, as well as to enhance specific skills of the participants in gender sensitive conflict analysis and mediation process design. The course program is designed for civilians, military and police officers working in international organizations (UN, EU, AU, OSCE etc.), those working in the public sector, non-governmental organizations and academic institutions or those preparing themselves to serve in the area of peace operations or in diplomatic services.

“HOW TO MANAGE THE POLITICAL DIMENSION IN PEACEMAKING, PEACEKEEPING AND PEACE BUILDING IN AFRICA”

A course for political advisers and political affairs officers for peace operations in Africa

The overall objective of the course is to train political advisers and political affairs officers serving in peacekeeping operations, political and peacebuilding missions in Africa by enhancing their specific knowledge and skills, and enabling them to develop a deeper understanding of ways to manage the political dimension in a conflict or post-conflict environment. The course program is designed for mid and senior level political advisors and political affairs officers working in international organizations headquarters and field operations (UN, AU, ECOWAS, EU, etc.), and those working in governments, non-governmental organizations, academic institutions, or preparing to serve in peace operations and in diplomatic service.

ADVANCE SECURITY IN THE FIELD

The course is designed to equip participants from a range of disciplines with core security skills applicable across a range of medium to high risk mission contexts. The course combines best practices and experiences from a wide spectrum of Civilian, Journalist, UN, EU, Diplomatic, Military and Police settings where our highly experienced and certified trainers will transfer their personal insights from work both in mission and solo mission contexts that includes Africa, Mid East, Afghanistan and Asia. Specialist areas such as Actions under fire; IEDs; Front line first aid; Hostage taking; and Conduct after capture will be covered alongside core elements including situational awareness and security planning / preparations. Finally, the course will also include data/communications security awareness modules with core training and tools to better protect your personal and professional data.